

Directory of Open Access Repositories – OpenDOAR

Content: A systematic collection of worldwide scientific repositories usually located at universities, academic institutions, scientific organizations. The catalogue systematises repositories by dividing them geographically, thematically, typologically or by depositing technology used. This enables a conscious choice of where to deposit our publications. For this purpose, I recommend the advanced search feature within OpenDOAR.

On the home page, click on Advanced Search.

In the same place we can immediately search for repositories by country of origin Browse by Country.

Advanced Search gives us the opportunity to browse the repositories by subject:
