

Table of contents

Preface	7
1. Hedonic price methods	9
1.1. Introduction	9
1.2. Hedonic model and its applications	10
1.3. Research motivation.....	12
1.4. Hedonic price indices	13
1.5. The infrastructure for data collection	19
1.6. Data sets	24
1.7. Methodological notes	25
2. Hedonic indices on ICT/IT goods and consumer electronics markets	30
2.1. Introduction.....	30
2.2. Preliminary commodities selection.....	30
2.3. Hedonic indices for TV sets.....	40
2.4. Hedonic indices for laptop computers	47
2.5. Hedonic indices for smartphones.....	54
3. Hedonic indices on household appliances markets	62
3.1. Introduction	62
3.2. Preliminary commodities selection.....	62
3.3. Hedonic indices for coffee makers	68
3.4. Hedonic indices for refrigerators	74
4. Hedonic indices on secondary apartments markets	79
4.1. Introduction	79
4.2. Datasets	79
4.3. Hedonic price indices for apartments in Kraków.....	80
4.4. Comparison of hedonic indices for apartments in Polish cities	84
5. Hedonic indices on used cars markets	86
5.1. Introduction	86

5.2. Datasets	87
5.3. Hedonic price indices for used hatchback cars	88
5.4. Comparison of hedonic indices for various types of used automobiles.....	92
Final notes	94
Appendices	97
References	123
List of figures	129
List of tables	131