1	Introduction	1
	Lochlan Magee

PART I ANALYSIS

2	Before We Start, Let's Do Some Homework	5
	James Kerry
3	Competency in the Military	9
	James Kerry
4	Generational Learning Differences: Myth or Reality	21
	LCdr Brett Christensen and LCdr Remi Tremblay
5	Training Needs Analysis for Simulation-Based Training	31
	Phil Wallace
6	Mission Essential Competencies: A Novel Approach to Proficiency-Based Live, Virtual, and Constructive Readiness Training and Assessment	47
	Winston Bennett, Jr., George M. Alliger, Charles M. Colegrove, Michael J. Garrity, and Rebecca M. Beard

PART II DESIGN

7	Training Design	65
	George Galanis
8	Jump-Starting the Learning Curve: Instructional Design for the Military	69
	E. James Kehoe
9	Eight Basic Principles for Adaptability Training in Synthetic Learning Environments	97
	James A. Grand and Steve W.J. Kozlowski

10	Instructional Features for Training Military Teams in Virtual Environments Rebecca Grossman and Eduardo Salas	115
11	Key Tenets of Collective Training Heather M. McIntyre and Ebb Smith	125
12	Economic Considerations in Simulation-Based Training J.D. Fletcher	135

PART III TECHNOLOGIES

13	Training Technology: The State of Practice and Emerging Concepts Robert A. Sottolare	157
14	The Allocation of Training to Live and Virtual Environments Stuart Grant and Slawomir Wesolkowski	159
15	Virtual Environment Training Design: Pros, Cons, and Tailored Solutions Kay Stanney, Meredith Carroll, Roberto Champney, Luke DeVore, and Kelly Hale	169
16	The Role of Instructor Operator Stations in Training Melissa M. Walwanis, Brandy L. Swanson, and Beth F. Wheeler Atkinson	179
17	Medical Simulation for Training M. Beth H. Pettitt, Jack E. Norfleet, and William Y. Pike	193
18	Virtual Worlds and Serious Games as Training Tools Rodney A. Long	203
19	Research Gaps for Adaptive Computer-Based Tutoring Systems Robert A. Sottolare and Stephen Goldberg	213
20	The Generalized Intelligent Framework for Tutoring (GIFT) Robert A. Sottolare, Keith W. Brawner, Benjamin S. Goldberg, and Heather K. Holden	223
21	How Virtual Reality Training Can Win Friends and Influence People John Hart, Jonathan Gratch, and Stacy Marsella	235

PART IV MEASUREMENT

22	Effective Measurement Is Essential for Effective Training Christopher Best	253
23	Starting Points for Measurement Decisions in Training Evaluation Reid A. Bates, Nicole Cannonier, and E.F. Holton III	257
24	Factors Affecting the Reliability and Validity of Instructor Evaluations of Trainee Competencies Anya Andrews, Clint Bowers, and Corina Lechin	275
25	Measuring Up: Benefits and Trends in Performance Measurement Technologies Beth F. Wheeler Atkinson, Robert G. Abbott, and Danielle C. Merket	285
26	Using Objective Performance Assessments in Applied Settings Mark Schroeder, Brian Schreiber, and Winston Bennett, Jr.	297
27	What Is Transfer of Training, and What Does It Have to Do with Simulators? George Galanis, Ashley Stephens, and Philip Temby	307
