

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

- 27 Kacper Kępiński
Adrian Krężlik The Anthropocene, architecture, and other dangers
- 47 Tomasz Sławiński The Anthropocene: the urban context
- 59 Joanna Erbel Doughnut Economics, or how to transform our cities

PART 1 ECOLOGICAL CEILING

- 95 Paweł Hałat Landscape
- 109 Marta Tomasiak
Marta Przygoda Garden wisdom
- 129 Monika Rosińska Declarations of dependence: some remarks on non-anthropocentric speculative design
- 141 Kasper Jakubowski Biodiversity and architecture: the Symbiocene Project. Re-nature
- 157 Monika Konrad
Jolanta Pawlak Planning a sponge city: spatial planning in municipal water management – sectoral vs. ecosystem approaches
- 177 Barbara Nawrocka
Dominika Wilczyńska Nieciecz: the sexual life of fish in southern Poland
- 189 Cristian Pizzigalli Shrink, rewild, repeat
- 211 Krzysztof Janas
Jan Szeliga Non-human revitalisation in shrinking cities
- 225 Aleksandra Kardaś Hot, rough, and turbulent: what a city is like from an atmospheric scientist's perspective

CONTENTS

- 237 Simone De Iacobis
Małgorzata Kuciewicz Artisanal microclimates
- 253 Adrian Krężlik Contaminating with architecture
- 269 Paulina Grabowska A bioremediation laboratory for water from the Bay of Puck and the Vistula River estuary

PART 2 SOCIAL FLOOR

- 303 Philippe Rahm Climate, health, and architecture
- 317 Daniel A. Barber The form of fossil fuel
- 327 Dorota Leśniak-Rychlak Housing as social good
- 345 Elke Krasny Living with a wounded planet
- 359 Ewa Bińczyk
with her doctoral students The Anthropocene's future in times of war and stagnation: possible breakthroughs

- 389 About authors
- 397 Index